CONFIDENCE

With intelligent terrain adaptation to help provide stability on a variety of everyday surfaces.

As a CP and an amputee of more than 4 decades, Jerry Swanson had used a comprehensive range of prostheses. However, he was never comfortable on grass, gravel, or uneven ground and often avoided them altogether. When he couldn't, he would hip hike, vault, or circumduct. But, with SYMBIONIC LEG, his confidence has soared. He no longer detours around undesirable terrain, or obsesses about every step for fear of falling. "Walking used to be a constant struggle," he says. "Now, I'm much more relaxed."
